Class of St. James

We have different ways and perception. Yet, we were able to stand forth and establish uniqueness within ourselves. It's been quite a tough but enjoyable year. We have learned to associate, discover and work with each other throughout the year. But what really makes us a cut above the rest is.....WE ARE ST. JAMES CLASS!!!

Class of St. John

We could aptly describe St. John to be quite unorthodox, in the sense that we have so much creative and imaginative energy which tends to upset the current trend, making trends of our own. St. John is rebellious, we guess, having the slight tendency to strongly voice out injustice and oppression, able to fight to the finish for what we believe is truly right. St. John is usually dead serious when it comes to work and in our ideals. But there's always a spark of wild, rowdy, unruly and sometimes senseless wit and humor that sends our teachers on the brink of heated fury or sends them laughing wildly on the floor. St. John personifies the humdrum, melodramatic and bitter-sweet attitudes of the generation of today, always cramming for more in the pursuit of total happiness.

Class of St. Luke

The "smart" class of the batch, this group is host to some of the wackiest happenings in school. They may be a little hardheaded but they can also touch one's heart through their gentle and simple ways. They always try to show their best in every endeavor they undertake. With each member of the class contributing to the hardwork, unity and cooperation, St. Luke, as a whole, becomes greater than the sum of its parts.

Class of St. Mark

The new chapter in life starts with a retrospect for St. Mark class.

Room 206 is the venue to the many unforgettable episodes. With the teachers serving as spectators. The cast: six lovely maidens and 42 gentlemen --- each one giving the performance of a lifetime. They are the protagonists and antagonists in the stage of life, spinning tales of comedy, dramas and actions. They laugh, they mourn, they fight, they survive.

In the process, the class acts with initiative, cooperates in activities and projects that challenge the best in them. They emerge as a single working unit surpassing teachers' expectations and obliterating whatever misconceptions others may have about the class.

Amidst all these trials, Miss Mae Ponferrada stands tall --- a very patient guide, a caring adviser.

Indeed, St. Mark and the adviser got the prize they richly deserve. " The reward of something well done is to have it done."

Class of St. Matthew

"All for one...one for all." This is what describes this class. Each member has different ideas and views, but they can still be united as a single entity. Differences are present, but these are not hindrances to their growth as individuals and as a group. In every task they undergo, with hardwork, patience and understanding as main ingredients, they make sure that it will be successful and fruitful for everyone.

Class of St. Paul

We enjoy life as it comes, sharing our happenings with those around us, extending a helping hand to each other. That's how we have managed to overcome all our troubles and trials. We are happy that we had each other's company every moment that we stayed in Notre Dame.

St. Paul has truly gained many friends outside the four walls of the classroom. Friends who really accept them for what they are and give them the greatest possible encouragement one could ever give. This well-loved section in Batch '94 is unique in its own right. One could never stay serious inside our room for there were thousands of wacky ideas being tossed around that would make him gasp for more air.

We can now say that we're glad to have graduated from this school. The four short years we spent together will be treasured in our hearts. All the joys and pains we have gone through, we believe, are the experiences that will strengthen each of us for the future. Class 4-ST.PAUL will remain forever in our HEARTS.

Class of St. Peter

A very normal bunch of growing up adolescents - some are naughty, some are just mischievous and mostly happy-go-lucky youths.

But one thing good about our class and this is what describes us best --- DETERMINATION. Once the group sets its mind to accomplishing something, they can do it and succeed.
